CURTAIL POWER OF THE SPEAKER

Have Committee to Name Committees.

This Plan Proposed by Democrats of Next Congress Who Have Arrived In Washington—Ten Democrats and Five Republicans Suggested—Champ Clark Willing For This Power to Be Taken From Speaker.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 29.—The question of revision of the House rules in the next Congress is still uppermost in the discussions of Democratic members who have arrived in Washington, and sentiment seems to be setting strongly toward the conclusion that the party owes it to itself to provide for the appointment of a committee on committees that shall take out of the hands of the Speaker the power of designating the standing committees.

At first it looked as if the members who were close to Champ Clark and who were relied on to take the lead in the movement to make him Speaker would be opposed to this change. But it is now evident the movement on committees is not part of the anti-Clark campaign. It is being advocated by some of Clark's close adherents, and this fact, since the Missouri leader is practically assured of the Speakership prize, makes it certain that Clark is entirely sincere in his declaration that on the question he desires to maintain strict neutrality and foreshadows the success of the movement for a change.

One of the recognized Clark adherents is Representative John Garner, of Texas, who has just returned here from his district. Mr. Garner has announced that he favors the selection of the House committee in the next Congress by a committee on committees elected by the House itself. He has worked out in detail a plan for the selection of such a committee on committees which he believes will meet the main objections that have been advanced against this radical change in the rules. His plan calls for a committee of 15 members, 10 Democrats and five Republicans, with the Speaker as chairman.

It is proposed that the Republican minority shall be allowed to select the five minority members. This will put on the Republicans a rather embarrassing and difficult task, in view of the divisions in the party between progressives and stand-patters. But when the Republicans no doubt after much wrangling and delay, have selected their five members of the committee on committees, they will be bound to stand by its work in the selection of minority representations on the standing committees of the House.

This will minimize the danger of further factional wrangling when the completed work of the committee on committees is submitted to the House for approval. The same will be true so far as the Democratic side is concerned. It is expected it will greatly lessen the chance of a combination of insurgents or malcontents on both sides of the House for the purpose of discrediting the work of the committee on committes.

Another feature of the Garner plan will forbid the selection of any member of the committee on committees as chairman of a standing committee of the House, and provides that no member of that committee may be placed on more than one additional committee. These provisions will guard against the danger that the members of the committee on committees should by log-rolling among themselves grab the choice chairmanships and important committee assignments.

The Garner plan is attracting a good deal of attention, and will be more and more discussed as members come into Washington for the session beginning next Monday.

North Carolina Day Program.

Supt. Foust has received from State Superintendent J. Y. Joyner programs for North Carolina Day, December 23, and copies can be secured by the teachers of the county by calling at Supt. Foust's office. The subject for study this year is "North Carolina Poets and Poetry." The pamphlet contains biographical sketches of Theophilus Hunter Hill, John Henry Boner and John Charles McNeill, several poems and songs, to be read and recited in the schools.

INTERPRETATION OF "PEER GYNT"

Great Work of Greig Given by Miss Kober In Studio of Miss Hunt—Reading by Mrs. Sharpe—Large and Appreciative Audience.

There are four million pianos in the United States, but ah, so few that can play them. Once in a while one has the good fortune so far to forget one's self as to sit for two hours and listen without the least show of fatigue to a piano virtuoso, and those who were so fortunate as to hear Miss Kober's musical interpretation of Peer Gynt yesterday afternoon in the studio of Miss Hunt, in the Southern Life and Trust Building, felt, if one is to judge from the wrapt interest manifest in the faces of those present, that a pianist had made her appearance in Greensboro.

It is just praise that should be bestowed—not platitude or fawning. Griegs' weird, fantastic, and, in some measures, soul-thrilling music cannot be interpreted by a mechanic. It requires a soul that is discriminative and responsive to the emotions of a great musician who has embodied the wild and interpid spirit of the Norseman in the scarcely-rivaled and unique music which flows from his own matchless and remarkable genius. This Miss Kober is able to do. She has the capacity to follow with a technique that thrills, the very sensibilities of the composer. No self-centered performer, who labors hard for effect, can play the death scene in the third act, nor even the description of bridal processions in the first, as it was performed last evening.

It is to be hoped that the music lovers of Greensboro may have opportunity of hearing Miss Kober in some of the difficult and majestic roles of Wagner, and in some melody also of Chopin, whose fingering has been the despair of so many otherwise notable pianists. If she is as much at home with these composers as with Grieg, she is worthy to be called great.

Appreciative mention must be made of the work of Mrs. Sharpe, who read the acts preceding their interpretation on the piano. Mrs. Sharpe is talented, and she reads as one who is not only acquainted with the text, but as one who has the instinct and sensibilities of an artist.

At the close of the interpretation of Peer Gynt, Miss Hunt and Miss Kober played "Morning and Evening," by Chaminade. Chaminade is said to be the greatest composer for the piano living, and had she been present yesterday afternoon, she would have experienced some feeling of pride in the security of her attainments and of honor for those who are able to appreciate her labors.

The recital was well attended, every seat being taken, with some standing. But they all remained to the end; and at the conclusion, many seemed loath to go.

Miss Kober will give her next recital at the Normal College on Saturday evening, December 3, under the auspices of the senior class of that college.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB MEETS.

Delightfully Entertained by Mrs. I. F. Peebles—Year's Reading Course Arranged.

Mrs. I. F. Peebles entertained the Fortnightly Study Club in a most unique manner yesterday afternoon at her new home on Spring street.

After the course of study for a year had been decided upon, the hostess invited the members into her cozy dining room, where a delicious luncheon, consisting of those things of which the members were especially fond, was served.

Those who compose this club are Misses Roche Michaux, Chase and Clara Boren, Myrtie Ham, Lula Whitaker, Mattie Williams, Mae Hendrix and Mrs. I. F. Peebles.

BACK FROM AN INSPECTION TOUR

Number of Schools Visited by Dr. Joyner.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Makes Study of Workings of the Schools and Ascertains Benefits of Centralization, Especially Agricultural Schools—Raleigh Wants Government Highway to National Cemetery.

Raleigh, Nov. 29.—State Superintendent of Public Instruction J. Y. Joyner is just back from a ten days tour with the other superintendents of public schools in the Southern States through Indiana, Ohio, Maryland, and up into Canada, making a special study of model schools illustrating the benefits of centralization and consolidation. The run into Canada was especially to make a study of the agricultural extension work in connection with the great agricultural college at Gleph, Canada. The party also stopped with much profit at Hampton Institute, Va., to make a study of the agricultural and industrial work being done there for the negroes. Dr. Joyner says it was a most profitable and delightful trip, affording opportunity to study at first hand some of the best schools of the sort to be found in the whole country and will go far toward helping the superintendents to work out the problems in their respective states in improving the rural schools and placing within the reach of country boys and girls better educational facilities of the sort most adapted to their needs.

The municipal and commercial bodies of Raleigh are adopting resolutions calling on the United States government to establish and maintain an adequate improved drive way from the city out to the National cemetery, one mile from the corporate limits. Special effort is to be made to get a bill for this through the next Congress.

Fourteenth judicial district appeals were called for argument in the supreme court this morning with nineteen cases constituting the calendar. The arguments will require practically all the remainder of the week. The cases being heard are: State vs. Gregory, State vs. Allison, State vs. Warren, Withrell vs. Murphy, Bushnell vs. Betrelett, McDowell vs. McArthur, (two appeals); Marshal vs. Telegraph Co., Thompson vs. Power Co., Zeiglar vs. Mining Co., Gilliam vs. Edmundson, Lumber Co. vs. Branch, McDonald vs. Kent, Crawford vs. Town of Marion, Simpson vs. Railroad Co., McBrayer vs. Philbrook, Marlowe vs. Bland, Borse Co. vs. Butler.

News was received here today from Carthage of the death there last night of W. T. Jones, member of the firm of Tyson & Jones, buggy manufacturers. He was between seventy five and eighty years old and was widely known, highly esteemed and quite successful in business. He was a brother-in-law of United States Marshal Claudius Dockery here.

It is learned here that Rev. C. L. Jones, pastor of the Baptist church at Carthage, has tendered his resignation in order that he may accept a call to the Baptist church at Ahoski.

State Horticulturalist W. N. Hutt and Assistant Horticulturalist Shaw are just back from the National Horticulturalist Congress at Council Bluff, Iowa, where the North Carolina exhibits under their direction scored such a "sweepstakes" record in the winning of the awards. They brought with them the trophies won and they are being arranged as a special exhibit for a while at the state department of agriculture. Their value in money is more than one thousand dollars in addition to the vast amount of real benefit the triumph of the state in this national contest will be in attracting attention to the progress and possibilities of North Carolina in horticulture. The winnings include the sweepstakes cup and championship ribbon for the best general exhibit, the gulf states special cup for the best display of apples; sweepstakes cup for the best display of nuts; the silver cup for the best display of peanuts; the silver cup for the best display of English walnuts, Gulf and Eastern states special vegetable trophy, two other championship ribbons; forty-eight first, eleven second, six third, twenty one gold medals are among the principal winnings of the state, far outstripping every other state that participated in the exposition.

It was a shouting, rollicking crowd of college boys and hundreds of their sympathizers in the city that made up a great throng of people last night out for the celebration of A. & M. victory over V. P. I. Thanksgiving day and the winning by A. & M. of the South Atlantic College championship. The city helped in the celebration by having the "great white way" ablaze and the big electric city sign "welcome to Raleigh" turned on. The college students marched and countermarched on Fayetteville street shouting and rejoicing right lustily. The band was out and the ball team was honored with a ride in the band wagon. The St. Mary's School, Peace Institute, and Meredith College were visited and serenaded. Out at the college there was a mass meeting of students and citizens at which congratulatory addresses were made by Gov. Kitchin, the college faculty and others.

JUDGE LASHES WIFE-BEATER

Wields Heavy Horsewhip, While Husband Begs For Mercy.

Wilkes-Barre, Pah., Nov. 29.—Realizing that the law did not provide adequate punishment for a man who thrashed his wife whenever the humor seized him, J. C. Hayden, justice of the peace, of Swoyersville, vigorously lashed Albert Gay, of the same place, with a heavy horsewhip today. When he had finished the wife-beater, weeping and begging for mercy, promised never to strike his wife again.

Mrs. Gay, a small, frail woman, appeared at the office of Justice Hayden with bruises and cuts on her head and arms and said her body was marked also by the blows of her husband. It was not an unusual proceeding, she declared, but she could not stand it any longer and wanted her husband punisheed.

Justice Hayden sent a constable after Gay. When Gay arrived he found the justice waiting with a heavy horsewhip in his hand.

"Take off your coat," thundered Justice Hayden, "and get down on your knees; there is only one kind of punishment fitting for such brutes as you, and you are going to get it."

Time and time again the whip descended upon Gay's back as he writhed and begged for mercy. When he jumped up Justice Hayden thrust him down again and lashed him once more. Not until he was out of breath did the justice stop, and then he sent Gay home with a warning that if he ever struck his wife again the punishment would be doubled.

FINDS MONEY IN MOUSE NEST

Port Jervis, N. J., Nov. 29.—James Babcock, of this city, in rummaging about the cellar of his residence on Thanksgiving day for a piece of stovepipe found hidden in an opening in the wall an old coffee pot, filled with loose paper, in which mice had made a nest.

In cleaning the coffee pot he was surprised to find a number of pay envelopes he had received from the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company when he was watchman for that corporation many years ago. They were yellow with age. On opening the envelopes he found in each bills in a good state of preservation, all amounting to $165.

The money had evidently been saved by his wife from his wages. She died 12 years ago. At her death $800 was found deposited by her in a New York city bank, which she had set aside from her husband's earnings.

The new firm will be open tomorrow and will have their phones, Nos. 24 and 101, connected ready for business. Mr. Phipps will discontinue his business after today. The store formerly conducted by Alston & Ralls will be under the management of Alston and Brown.

PROF. SOUTHWICK HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

Noted Lecturer and Elocutionist To Be Here Under Auspices of Greensboro Lyceum Course on Friday Evening, December 2—His Recitals Favorably Commented On.

On next Friday evening, December 2, the third number of the Greensboro Lyceum Course will be given when Henry Lawrence Southwick, whom the Richmond Times-Dispatch terms "a master in the art of expression and oratory," will give his celebrated recital, "The Rivals." The entertainment will be in the annex of the West Market Street Methodist church the heating plant having been completed since the last entertainment.

Prof. Southwick has received from the press in cities he has visited highly favorable criticism and Greensboro people will no doubt give him a hearty reception Friday evening. The Baltimore Sun says he is a man of marked simplicity, yet full of power. While he gives no less than half a score recitals and three Shakespearean lectures his recital on "The Rivals" is not surpassed by either of the remaining subjects. The entertainment Friday night will start promptly at 8 o'clock as he will have to leave at 10 o'clock whether the recital is concluded or not. Patrons should, therefore, be in their seats before eight in order to enjoy the entire evening of wit and humor.

Of Prof. Southwick the Glenn Falls, (N. Y.) Times says: Prof. Southwick lacks none of the essential qualities of lecturer or reader, as viewed from the highest standard. He graces the stage with a presence extremely pleasing, his gestures are of perfect naturalness and ease, while his voice is of wonderful power and sweetness, and his handsome, mobile face denotes the varying moods of his eloquence. He is an artist always, whether he recites an amusing skit to create a ripple of merriment or rises to the height of eloquence in the interpretation of Shakespeare.

LAST TO TALK WITH BOOTH

Sydney E. Marshall Had Trouble Over Assassination.

Washington, Nov. 29.—The funeral of Sydney E. Marshall, believed to have been the last man to talk with John Wilkes Booth before the assassination of Lincoln, and who died last Saturday at his home, 1105 Seventeenth street northwest, will be held at the residence tomorrow afternoon. Rev. George F. Dudley, pastor of St. Stephen's Protestant Episcopal church, will officiate and burial will be in Rock Creek Cemetery.

Mr. Marshall was with two other men on the night of the assassination and stopped Booth as he hurried to the theatre. The actor did not seem inclined to carry the conversation beyond a greeting, and Marshell, though one of Booth's warmest friends, was surprised at his coldness.

"I hope we haven't interrupted you," Mr. Marshall said.

"No one can do that," replied Booth, and he passed on to the theatre.

Not long afterward Marshall had considerable difficulty in disconnecting himself from the affair, as he was quickly reported to have been seen in Booth's company before the tragedy.

Mr. Marshall was one of those who formed a chain across the streets of Baltimore in an effort to prevent the Massachusetts regiment from passing through that city on its way to the capital. He fought with General Stuart in the Confederate cavalry, served with Stonewall Jackson at Bull Run and was with Lee at Appamattox. After the war he practiced law here and also a short time in Baltimore.

He was of the famous Marshall family of Virginia, being a direct descendant of Chief Justice Marshall, of the United States Supreme court, and was 68 years old.

SIX NURSES SUBMIT TO KNIFE

Skin Pared From Arms To Save Life of a Man.

New York, Nov. 28.—Six comely nurses of the City Hospital, Jersey City, participated in a sacrificial act yesterday that will assure them of bearing for life a badge indicating that they contributed their mite toward saving a human life.

On the left arm of each, midway between the shoulder and the elbow, is a spot about an inch square from which the skin was deftly pared by a razor-edged surgeon's knife.

The six contributions of skin from the young women were added to others and the total of 25 square inches used in a skin-rafting effort to save the life of James Salton, who had been severely burned on face and arm by hot tar.

HOW TO CURE RHEUMATISM

It Is An Internal Disease And Requires An Internal Remedy.

The cause of rheumatism and kindred diseases is an excess of uric acid in the blood. To cure this terrible disease this acid must be expelled and the system so regulated that no more acid will be formed in excessive quantities. Rheumatism is an internal disease and requires an internal remedy. RUBBING with oils and Liniments WILL NOT CURE, affords only temporary relief at best, causes you to delay the proper treatment, and allows the malady to get a firmer hold on you. Liniments may ease the pain, but they will no more cure Rheumatism than paint will change the fiber of rotten wood.

Science has at last discovered a perfect and complete cure, which is called Rheumacide. Tested in hundreds of cases, it has effected the most marvelous cures; we believe it will cure you. Rheumacide gets at the joints from the inside, sweeps the poisons out of the system, tones up the stomach, regulates the liver and kidneys and makes you well all over. Rheumacide strikes the root of the disease and removes its cause. This splendid remedy is sold by druggists and dealers generally at 50c. and $1 a bottle. In Tablet form at 25c. and 50c. a package. Write to Bobbitt Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md. Booklet free. Tablets sent by mail.

Nothing cures skin troubles so quickly as Hancock Sulphur Compound. To beautify the complexion and remove black heads and pimples, use Hancock Sulphur Ointment, 25c. Mrs. Evelyn Garst, of Salem, Va., writes: "Three years ago I had a rough place on my cheek, it would burn and itch. I was fearful it might be of a cancerous nature. I used different preparations, but nothing ever helped it. One bottle of Sulphur Compound cured me completely. I recommend it to any one having any skin disease." SCARLET FEVER

Careless Mothers Blamed for Recent Spread of the Disease.

Scarlet fever has increased to such an alarming extent in Philadelphia that the Department of Health and Charities places the responsibility upon parents, whom, it is charged, are guilty of more than carelessness. Fortunately, the disease has, in the majority of cases, manifested itself only in a mild form, but the danger is not decreased because of the effect that the attack may have upon the future health of the child. Director Neff urges the co-operation of the public in preventing the spread of scarlet fever, in his weekly health bulletin he says:

For the first 10 months of this year the mortality from scarlet fever has been 27 per cent more than for the corresponding period of last year and 18 per cent more than the average of the past five years. The cause of this increase is due to the spread of infection by children who have a very slight attack, are not sick enough to go to bed and who continue in their school work; yet these cases will transmit to others the form of scarlet fever that kills.

This disease is preventable, yet there were reported cases last year 2589 cases, each case probably caused by some one who had scarlet fever or had been in contact with a case of scarlet fever but who was ignorant, careless or indifferent to the rights of others. The mother whose child having recovered allows her to go out and play with her neighbors before the doctor states that the danger of spreading the disease to others is past is guilty of more than carelessness. She may be relieved of the care of the child, but not of responsibility for sickness, spread of the disease and possibly death caused by her act.

The patient should be isolated until all peeling of the skin has stopped. The disease is more particularly "catching" from the spittle from the throat and mouth and from discharges from the nose and ear, and therefore these should be collected on old linen or cotton rags that can be burned up immediately after using. If this is not done everything soiled in the sick room should be placed in a bucket containing a disinfecting solution before being taken out of the room.

The most common symptoms are vomiting, fever, sore throat and a rash, but one can have scarlet fever without the vomiting or fever or without the rash and the throat trouble may not attract attention. Mothers—no matter how slight the sore throat may be—send for your doctor, or if you are too poor to employ one communicate with the City Hall. Where home conditions do not warrant the proper care of patients they can be taken to the Philadelphia Hospital for Contagious Diseases. This institution is new and is said to be the best hospital of its kind in the world for the treatment of these cases.

Not Sorry for Blunder.

"If my friend hadn't blundered in thinking I was a doomed victim of consumption, I might not be alive now," writes D. T. Sanders, of Harrodsburg, Ky., "but for years they saw every attempt to cure a lung-racking cough fail. At last I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. The effect was wonderful. It soon stopped the cough and I am now in better health than I have had for years. This wonderful life-saver is an unrivaled remedy for coughs, colds, lagrippe, asthma, croup, hemorrhages, whooping cough or weak lungs. 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free. A TARCOOLER FUNERAL.

Wood Was Scare, but They Managed to Rig Up a Coffin.

In some of the mining districts of South Australia there is a great scarcity of wood. Consequently, if you are so foolish as to die there you must not expect to have a coffin, but must be content to be wrapped in a sack before being deposited in Mother Earth.

However, when a certain very prominent resident of a mining camp died the other people of the settlement—by the way, it was called Tarcooler, though coolness was unknown and Tarhotter would have been a more suitable name—determined that he should be buried in style. So they set about getting a coffin. They made one of a sort, placed a lid on it and laid it (with the deceased inside) in an empty tent for the night.

Next morning the lid of the coffin was missing. It was afterward found that it had been stolen to make the tailboard of a butcher's cart.

However, in spite of this trifling loss the funeral was conducted with great solemnity. The coffin was much admired. It had been made out of the boxes in which the dynamite was sent to the mines. Some people might have considered that the obsequies were marred by the fact that the coffin bore in large letters on one side the legend "Keep dry," and on the other "Stow away from boilers," but that did not trouble the simple minds of the Tarcool-'uns.—London Tit-Bits.

DAY 762. PHONES NIGHT 1442

SIXTY BUSHELS OF CORN

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.

The Widow Glenn lived on a couple of acres of ground in the outskirts of the village of Bryon. She had three small children, and the world was not going very well with her. Her cow had been taken on a debt, there was a mortgage of $200 on the place, and the holder was threatening to sell her out.

One day a fat man arrived in the village and took rooms at the tavern. He was fat and jolly and gossipy. He was also sympathetic. He happened to hear of the Widow Glenn's troubles, and after three or four days he sauntered out that way and found her seated on the doorstep with tears in her eyes.

"Widow," said he after introducing himself and sympathizing with her about the loss of crops, "I'm a fat man. I'm a good man. I have a heart. You are not getting a fair show in this world. I am not here to ask your hand in marriage, for Cupid is not for me. I am here to say that those who go out to shear shall be shorn, or words to that effect."

"I don't understand you," was her reply.

"And those who go out to slay shall come back home slain themselves. While I am a fat man and a good man and have a heart, there are times when I do a little business on the outside. This is one of the times. I want to rent your barn for a week, and then I want you to act as my agent for perhaps two more. I will pay you $100 a week and perhaps more."

"But you can't mean it!" exclaimed the surprised woman.

"But I can, widow. I want the barn to store corn in. It is shelled and will come in sacks. There will be many come to buy it for next year's seed. The price will be $10 a bushel.

"As my agent you are to sell it at $10 a bushel, and I am to pay you $200 for so doing."

"Why, I'll do that, of course, but"—

"Say no more, widow. Rest right there. Here's $5 for the rent of the barn till we get married. The corn will arrive on the railroad, and teams will draw it up here."

Next day the fat man and the good man and the man with a heart prepared an article for the village paper. He also got out circulars to farmers. The inventor of a new breakfast food wanted 5,000 bushels of corn next year. He wanted red corn exclusively. He would pay $15 per bushel for it. The red corn was a fad, but New York was willing to pay for its fads. The Widow Glenn had been made the agent of the Great American Red Corn Fad company and had red seed corn to sell at $10 per bushel. Call before it was all gone. Not more than three bushels to any one buyer, as the company wanted to give all farmers a chance.

The fat man with a heart disappeared. The widow had her instructions, and she obeyed them. The red corn was in two bushel sacks, and the farmers tumbled over themselves to take them away.

The widow's roll of ten and twenty dollar bills grew larger every hour, and her heart grew lighter. There was a mystery about her being appointed agent, but no one had any time to talk about it. It was the red corn fad that was on tap all the time. Many of the buyers thought there might be a demand for blue corn within two or three years and wondered how it could be grown. In ten days every bushel of the corn was sold, and the widow had $600 deposited in the postoffice safe. Then the fat man showed up. He was just as fat and jolly as ever. He said at the tavern that the day seemed to have dawned when red corn must take its place in the social and commercial world, and he intimated that the stock he had secured in the Great American Red Corn Fad company would pay dividends of 50 per cent within two years. To the widow, when he had sauntered out to her house and received the roll of greenbacks, he said:

"Widow, I am a fat man, a good man and a man with a heart. Here is $225 to clear the mortgage and interest off your home."

"Oh, but it's too much!" she replied.

"Widow, there's those around here who have sought to shear you. They will lose their own wool. Take this $75 to fit up the children and yourself.

"There are those around you who have sought to slay you, and now they have slain themselves. Take another hundred to build a new fence, paint the house and get some new furniture."

"But that's $400!"

"Widow, your figures are correct. The $200 I keep will pay for the corn, the freightage and my summer vacation. I was in the lightning rod business once, but my conscience drove me out of it. I am now simply a fat man, a good man and a man with a heart. Widow, orphans, fare thee well."

And about the red corn? It had been dyed red! And about the farmers? Well, as never a kernel of that red corn sprouted they had none to sell next year. And about the Great American Red Corn Fad company? Why, as there was no red corn to buy it didn't open a purchasing agency in Bryon. And, lastly, about the fat man with a heart? Oh, he still lives and continues to do good actions.

Emma Goldman says there are no Christians, but we incline to the belief that in no country but one that is Christian would Emma be accorded so much good-natured tolerance and urbane consideration as she is meeting with.

David B. Hill left a personal estate of less than $25,000, surely no great sum for an extremely able lawyer whose habits were abstemious and whose way of life was simple.—Exchange.

Yet no doubt there were plenty of people ready to say that Hill got rich out of politics and retired.

What's the matter with folks anyhow? Why is some new disease always breaking out, or being discovered by learned scientists? Does the progress of civilization mean the development of new diseases? If so, it is to shudder. If so, to appendicitis, pellagra and hookworm there must be added, while the human race stands aghast, still other maladies as yet unheard and even undreamed of. With the multiplication of diseases comes the multiplication of remedies and specialists. They all cost money. And, alas, money is scarce. Would that money were more plentiful!

Winston-Salem has always seemed to us to be rather immured; and especially thick and impenetrable was her south wall. But with invincible valor and dauntless courage she has broken through with a direct line of march southward. We congratulate her and also that intrepid young town of Wadesboro. It is, of course, to be regretted on our side that we shall not be privileged to have so many of Winston's good citizens in Greensboro while en route southward; but on the other hand, the people of Anson and adjoining counties will now have easier access to Greensboro and other important centres north and east. So here's a bow of welcome and a glad hand to Wadesboro.

The New York World calls for the removal of the tariff on meats. It says:

Under the Payne-Aldrich act beef is taxed a cent and a half a pound; bacon is taxed four cents a pound; hams are taxed four cents a pound; mutton and lamb are taxed a cent and a half a pound; pork and veal are taxed a cent and a half a pound; poultry is taxed three cents a pound when it is alive and five cents when it is dead. All these taxes strengthen the beef trust in its policy of extortion by keeping out the food products of Canada, Australia and the Argentine Republic.

Meats are too high. One cent off on beef, four on bacon, four on hams and so on through the schedule would be a reduction of consequence and would be a blessing to the millions of poor people throughout the land. Surely there is no need of longer protecting the beef trust by keeping a tariff on meats.

In Philadelphia the tariff is such a live and pressing issue that the preachers have commenced discussing it from their pulpits. Rev. Augustus E. Bartnett, of the Reformed Episcopal church of Our Redeemer, has been preaching a series of sermons on "The Decalogue" and when he came to "Thou Shalt Not Steal," why, of course, there was no way of steering around the tariff despite the fact that the tariff is generally regarded as politics and politics is to be eschewed in pulpit remarks. Dr. Barnett designated much of the tariff legislation as "robbery, trading and dickering on the part of the interests." And that is the way it impresses a great many other people as the vote on Nov. 8 plainly showed. Ben Tillman had the right idea of the tariff when he declared that if there was any stealing to be done he wanted his section to have its share of the loot, but it would have been vastly more creditable to him to say that if there was any stealing to be done, he didn't want his section to be guilty of the crime.

TAFT AND ROOSEVELT

Each a Living Force; Taft Static Roosevelt Dynamic.

We have set out with the assertion that both men are genuinely partriotic. Both are highly educated, the one on technical lines, the other in general scholarship. Neither began his public career with the Presidency in view. Taft's ambitions pointed in the direction of the Federal Supreme court; Roosevelt's toward diplomacy. looking to the erection of the United States into a great world power, circumstances which could not have been foreseen deflected the currents of their lives. Each is a living force after his kind; Taft static, Roosevelt dynamic. Taft takes advantage of opportunity when it comes his way and tries to shape it for the public good; Roosevelt goes hunting for it and consequently gets a larger choice. Inertia for Taft, means rest; for Roosevelt, incessant activity.

To recognize visually the temperamental difference between the two men, we need only see them at their equestrian exercise. Mr. Taft's horse must be one which can be depended on to carry him a given distance over a specified course in a stated time at a certain gait. Mr. Roosevelt's must be one which will not balk at leaving the beaten trail and plunging into a thicket, a jumper which will refuse no bar, a mettlesome animal which taxes continually its rider's vigilance. Both men are laughing philosophers; but Taft laughs at the world. Roosevelt with it. The Taft smile has passed into a proverb; it is always there shining even through the mists of conventional sobriety. The Roosevelt smile comes and goes; it emerges from his near-sighted scowl and disappears again behind it, as the sun plays with an opaque cloud.—Francis E. Leupp in Atlantic Monthly.

MAILED LETTERS.

Belong to the Senders Until Delivered to the Addressees.

Under the postal regulations and the rulings of the highest courts of the United States a letter does not belong to the person to whom it is sent until it is delivered to him. The writer has a right to reclaim and regain possession of it, provided he can prove to the satisfaction of the postmaster at the office from which it was sent that he was the writer of it. Even after the letter has arrived at the office which is its destination and before it has been delivered to the person to whom it is addressed it may be recalled by the writer by telegraph through the mailing office.

The regulations of the postoffice department of course require that the utmost care shall be taken by the postmaster at the office of mailing to ascertain that the person who desires to withdraw the letter is really the one who is entitled to do so, and a postmaster is responsible for his error if he delivers the letter to an impostor or an unauthorized person.

The vital principle in our political system lies at the bottom of this matter. In this country the state is the servant or agent of the citizen, not his master. It remains merely his agent throughout the transmission of a letter. The state may prescribe regulations under which its own servants may carry a message for the citizen, but it cannot shirk its responsibility to him.—New York Press.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh,, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

HIS QUICK LUNCH.

A Cleveland Man's Experience In a Toronto Restaurant.

The Canadian brother certainly differs from us in several strongly marked respects. A Cleveland man went into the leading restaurant of Toronto and said to the waiter in his customary quick lunch voice:

"Crackers 'n' milk—cup coffee—apple pie."

The waiter bent a little lower.

"Beg pahdon, sir!"

The Cleveland man said it again and, being slightly irritated, said it faster.

The waiter shook his head.

"I'm afraid we 'aven't it, sir," he deprecated, as Hashimura Togo might say.

"Haven't you any crackers?"

"No, sir." Then, with a sudden inspiration, "We 'ave biscuits, sir."

"All right; bring me biscuits. And you can give me some milk, can't you—milk in a bowl?"

"I'll inquire, sir." Then another inspiration. "We can give you coffee, sir."

"Good! How about the apple pie?"

"No, sir. We've never 'ad it to my knowledge, sir. I think there's no call for it." Another inspiration. "We 'ave apple tart, sir."

"Fine! Bring me biscuits 'n' milk—coffee—apple tart, and be as quick as possible, please."

But it was exactly thirty-seven minutes later when the Cleveland man brushed away the crumbs and reached for his hat.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

HOLD THE RIGHT IDEALS.

Latent Courage and the Power of Mental Suggestion.

We not only can strengthen mental weaknesses and deficiencies, but it is perfectly possible to increase the general ability through the power of suggestion, says Orison Swett Marden in Success Magazine. Indeed, the susceptibility of all the mental faculties to improvement, to enlargement, is something remarkable.

Sometimes very strong faculties are latent until especially aroused. There are many people who pass for cowards, who are humiliated because they have so little courage, when, if they only knew how, they could strengthen this deficient faculty wonderfully by holding the courageous ideal, by thinking and doing the courageous deeds, by carrying the thought of fearlessness, by reading about heroic lives, by constantly thinking the heroic thought and trying to live it. The courage may be small in a person because it has never been called into sufficient exercise. It may need only to be aroused. There are many people living lives of mediocrity who might do great things, might become mental giants, if their dormant faculties were aroused their general ability improved and enlarged.

The Number Nine.

There were nine earths, according to mediaeval cosmogony, nine heavens, nine rivers of hell and nine orders of angels. The number being perfection since it represented divinity was often used to signify a great quantity, as in the phrases, "A nine days' wonder," "A cat has nine lives" and "Nine tailors make a man." In Scotland a distempered cow was cured by washing her in nine surfs. To see nine magpies was considered extremely lucky. Nine knots made in a black woolen thread served as a charm in the case of a sprain. It was also believed and is still by some that if a servant girl finds nine green peas in one pod and lays them on the window sill the first man that enters will be her beau. Nine grains of wheat laid on a four leaved clover enables one, it is said, to see the fairies.

To say that talk is cheap may be regarded as an extravagant assertion.

JEALOUS LOVER SHOOTS A WOMAN

Bertha Wise, Colored, Seriously Injured Early Yesterday Morning by Ferd Gilmer—Negro Fled But Was Arrested Soon Thereafter — Victim Has Slight Chance For Recovery.

Going to the home of his victim yesterday morning Ferd Gilmer, colored, drew a 44 calibre revolver and fired point blank at Bertha Wise, the ball striking just above the heart and penetrating the body. As he was preparing to shoot again Lizzie Page, another negro, stepped between Gilmer and his victim and prevented him from shooting a second time, as the body of his victim fell to the floor.

The Wise woman lives near Washington alley, between Washington and East Market streets, in the section of town called Duplin. The officers were notified and they at once got busy. Dr. R. O. Dees was called in to treat the negro woman while the police searched for Gilmer, who had fled as soon as the enormity of his crime became apparent. The officers went to his home and found it barricaded. Chief Neelley and Officers Hepler and McFarland broke the door down and found the pistol inside the room, but no trace of the murderer. However, crouching low in the attic was Gilmer shaking with fear. He was carried to the calaboose and locked up to await the result of the shooting.

Dr. Dees dressed the wound and the negro woman appeared to get easier. While she is not yet out of danger she was getting along all right last night and the chances for recovery seem good. Until she is on the road to recovery Gilmer will be held without bail.

Gilmer is said to have been jealous of the Wise woman and it is reported that on several times he threatened to kill her. The night before his brother tried to get the revolver away from him, but was not successful. He is generally considered as a very good negro, but some of his qualities are not up to the average.

The shooting created no little excitement and a great crowd had gathered when the officers arrived. At first it was thought that the woman would die as the ball went clean through the body and dropped out on the hearth before which she was sitting. Luckily, however, the ball was just a little above the heart and unless complications set in the woman will most likely recover and be able to testify against the negro in court.

LEAVES HIS FIANCEE AN ANNUITY FOR LIFE

Pittsburg Millionaire Bequeathes $1,000 a Year to Store Buyer He Was to Have Wed.

Pittsburg, Nov. 29.—By the terms of the will of the late Frederick Gwinner, Jr., a millionaire contractor, his fiancee, Miss Mary A. Leech, a glove buyer in a department store, will receive an annuity of $1,000 a year. In addition to this she will receive the dividends from fifty shares of valuable stock.

The millionaire contractor and Miss Leech were engaged to be married for several years before his death, which occurred on April 27. They attended the Horse Show, grand opera and other social functions together, and the date for the wedding was set last spring.

A few days before Gwinner's death he took his fiancee to the theatre. He became ill with pneumonia and died a few days later. Miss Leech refuses to discuss the will, although she admits that she will receive the annuity. Through her work in the department store she had provided for her aged mother, of whom she is practically the only support.

WILSON ON THE PRESIDENCY

"I Do Not Feel I Have Proved My Fitness," He Writes, "But"—

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 29.—The Woodrow Wilson Club, an organization perfected Saturday to boost Woodrow Wilson, Governor-elect of New Jersey, for the Democratic Presidential nomination in 1912, today received a letter from Dr. Wilson in which he does not feel that he has proved his fitness for the Presidency.

The club sent Dr. Wilson a telegram Saturday night, telling him of its purpose. The following reply was received today:

"Mr. Robert W. Shultice, Norfolk, Va.:

"My Dear Mr. Shultice—The news brought by your kind telegram of yesterday has given me the greatest pleasure. I do not feel that I have at all proved my fitness to be the nominee of the Democratic party for the Presidency, but it is very delightful that you and your associates in the new club should entertain such confidence in me, and I want to express my very deep appreciation and gratitude. With warmest regards. Sincerely yours.

"WOODROW WILSON."

Dr. Wilson is well known in Norfolk. He made his famous speech advocating the imprisonment of heads of oppressive corporations in this city in 1907.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLIC.

We have occupied our present store ever since we opened business in Greensboro, and not until the last few days was it possible for us to secure a long time lease on the building so that we could expand.

Now that we have secured the store, we feel that we can go ahead and make the necessary changes at once in order to meet the requirements of our large and growing business.

We have the utmost confidence in Greensboro's growth and we are going to make our store the most complete music store to be found in any city.

As soon as we can make room, we are going to put in a complete line of sheet music and small musical merchandise; in fact, we are going to carry everything from a "Jews Harp" to a piano.

This has been a growing demand on us for some time and we feel that Greensboro should have such a store. We propose to carry everything in stock to assist the music teachers and the musical people in general.

Now to begin with, we are going to clean house by offering our entire stock of fine pianos and organs at prices that will insure quick removal.

This must be done first, as the front of our store is going to be torn away at once and changed in many ways to make room for the department.

We have a very large stock of pianos and organs and right on top of all this, here comes a solid car of fine sample pianos, which will pack our warerooms full on every floor.

We secured these pianos from the factory exhibit at Reidsville, and they must be sold.

These are all the highest grade pianos, right from the factory and were on exhibition for a short time at Reidsville, and having secured them at a considerable reduction, we are in position to give quick buyers the benefit of the lowest prices ever known on high class pianos.

We decided the best way to clean house is to offer this stock of fine pianos at prices and terms that will insure their quick removal to the homes of customers.

THE GIFT OF GAB.

Why Stephenson Thought There Was No Power Equal to It.

When George Stephenson was visiting the seat of Sir Robert Peel at Drayton on one occasion, says the writer of "Famous British Engineers," there happened to be present Dr. Buckland, the scientist, and Sir William Follett, the famous advocate.

Stephenson discussed with Dr. Buckland one of his favorite theories as to the formation of coal and, though undoubtedly in the right, was ultimately vanquished by the arguments and oratory of the doctor, who was a better master of tongue fence than himself. Next morning while pondering over his defeat in the solitude of the garden he was accosted by Sir William Follett and confided to that gentleman the story of his failure.

Sir William, acquainted with the details of the matter in dispute, agreed to take up the case and soon afterward attacked Dr. Buckland on the subject. A long discussion ensued, in which the man of law completely silenced the man of science, who was at last compelled to own himself vanquished. Sir Robert Peel, highly amused at this example of "tit for tat," then turned to the inventor and inquired, with a laugh:

"And what do you say on this matter, Mr. Stephenson?"

"Why," he replied, "I will only say this—that of all the powers above and under the earth there seems to me no power equal to the gift of the gab."

QUAINT EPITAPHS.

Gems From Ancient Graveyards In Suffolk, England.

The Suffolk (England) Institute of Archaeology has been collecting epitaphs from the ancient graveyards throughout the shire, and several of the most curious are here printed. One shows traces of a pessimistic philosophy surprising when we consider the strong orthodoxy of the day when the epitaph was written:

Beneath this stone lies Catherine Gray,
Changed to a lifeless lump of clay.
By earth and clay she got her pelf,
And now she's turned to clay herself.
Who knows but in the course of years
In some tall pitcher or brown pan
She in her shop may stand again.

Another from Suffolk reads as follows:

Here lies Robert Wallas,
The King of Good Fellows,
Clerk of All Hallows
And maker of bellows.

These which follow could scarcely be lines chosen by the reverend occupant of the tomb himself, a clergyman named Chest:

Here lies at rest, I do protest,
One Chest within another.
The chest of wood was very good.
Who says so of the other?

And, to conclude, here is a bit of philosophy that cannot be improved by any of the great thinkers of all time:

Here I lie outside the chancel door;
Here I lie because I'm poor.
The further in the more they pay,
But here I lie as warm as they.

A Wooden Head.

Certain members of the house party were describing the accidents that had happened to them during their various careers. Adventures by flood, fire and field had all been well received, and De Sappleby, eager for fame, thought it was his turn.

"D'you know," he said, "I had a very painful experience once. I ran a confounded splinter quite half an inch long right under my finger nail, don't you know."

"Really, Mr. de Sappleby," said a maiden of the party. "How did you do it?"

"Well," he said, "it happened like this." As he spoke he unconsciously raised his hand and scratched his forehead.

"Oh, I see," she interrupted sweetly. "How very careless of you!"—St. Paul Dispatch.

Carpets and Rugs.

Carpets and rugs were originally employed by oriental nations for sitting, reclining and kneeling purposes during devotion. When introduced among the western peoples they were for a long time used for purely ornamental purposes, covers for tables or couches and for laying before altars or chairs of state upon great occasions. Carpets were brought to Europe by the Moors, but it was well into the eighteenth century before they came into anything like general use.

Every Little Movement.

A visitor to the cobbler's shop noticed one day a barrel half full of tiny brass cogwheels.

"Why," he said, "what are all those for?"

"Goodness knows," answered the cobbler, with a careless laugh. "I get about a cupful out of every clock I mend."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Reason For His Disgust.

"He's disgusted with the way the politicians are running things in this town."

"Is that so?"

"Yes; he ran for office and was defeated."—Detroit Free Press.

Nibbles the Wood.

"I'm tired of this old joke about a woman sharpening a pencil with her husband's razor."

"There's nothing in it. No woman sharpens a pencil. She gnaws it to a point."—Pittsburg Post.

Too Near.

"What animal," said the teacher of the class in natural history, "makes the nearest approach to man?"

"The flea," timidly ventured the little boy with the curly hair.—Chicago Tribune.

DIABETES

In people of sixty and over the results are quite uniform, probably nine-tenths recovering. While at fifty and over a large majority of all cases yield to the treatment, below fifty and approaching forty the disease gets more stubborn, and between thirty and forty the percentage is not high—probably not much over half yielding.

Under thirty the percentage is less and in children recoveries have been very few and most of those were obtained with the aid of skilled physicians forcing nutrition, with alkaline treatment to prevent formation of acetones.

The new emollient treatment is known as Fulton's Diabetic Compound. It can be had in Greensboro at the Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

We desire every patient to write us who is not noting the usual improvement by the third week. Always state age. Literature mailed free. Jno. J. Fulton Co., 645 Battery street, San Francisco, Cal. We invite correspondence with the physicians who have obstinate cases.

"Generally debilitated for years. Had sick headaches, lacked ambition, was worn-out and all run-down. Burdock Blood Bitters made me a well woman." —Mrs. Chas. Freitoy, Moosup, Conn.

Bilious? Feel heavy after dinner? Tongue coated? Bitter taste? Complexion sallow? Liver needs waking up. Doan's Regulets cure bilious attacks. 25 cents at any drug store.

Slightly Mixed.

He wasn't good at conundrums, but when his turn came to ask one at a little social party he thought he could remember a good one he had heard. It was the old riddle:

"Why is a woman like the ivy?"

The answer, of course, is the gallant explanation:

"Because the more you're ruined the closer she sticks."

But he got it mixed and asked:

"Why is the ivy like a woman?"

None of the ladies present could give an appropriate reply, so he himself ventured this maladroit solution:

"Because the closer it clings the more you're ruined."

Spoiled It For Him.

Mr. Clarke's butler had asked for a night off, for the purpose, as he explained, of attending a ball in the village. The next day Mr. Clarke asked him how he had enjoyed himself.

"Oh, pretty good, sir, thank you," was the response. "It would have been better if it hadn't a-been for the women. I can't abide women at a ball."—New York Press.

A Surprise.

A MASTER OF METAPHOR.

It Must Have Relieved Him to Get This Out of His System.

A water consumer in a certain city, whose supply had been turned off because he wouldn't pay, wrote to the department as follows:

"In the matter of shutting off the water on unpaid bills your company is fast becoming a regular crystallized Russian bureaucracy, running in a groove and deaf to the appeals of reform. There is no use of your trying to impugn the verity of this indictment by shaking your official heads in the teeth of your own deeds.

"If you will persist in this kind of thing a widespread conflagration of the populace will be so imminent that it will require only a spark to let loose the dogs of war in our midst. Will you persist in hurling the cornerstone of our personal liberty to your wolfish hounds of collectors thirsting for its blood? If you persist the first thing you know you will have the chariot of a justly indignant revolution rolling along in our midst and gnashing its teeth as it rolls.

"If your rascally collectors are permitted to continue coming to our doors with unblushing footsteps, with cloaks of hypocritical compunction in their mouths, and compel payment from your patrons this policy will result in cutting the wool off the sheep that lays the golden egg until you have pumped it dry, and then farewell, a long farewell, to our vaunted prosperity."—Everybody's.

Saves an Iowa Man's Life.

The very grave seemed to yawn before Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Iowa, when, after seven weeks in the hospital, four of the best physicians gave him up. Then was shown the marvelous curative power of Electric Bitters. For, after eight months of frightful suffering from liver trouble and yellow jaundice, getting no help from other remedies or doctors, five bottles of this matchless medicine completely cured him. Its positively guaranteed for Stomach, Liver or Kidney troubles and never disappoints. Only 50 c. at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

MEAT AND MERCURY

Price of Living Not Likely To Keep Pace With the Mercury.

"I understand," said the cook, as he shoved a ham off the top shelf on the butler's head, "that meat is going down." That's the way I felt about it," said the butler.

But the fact is that the downward price of meat has affected the Greensboro market very little. There has been a slight change—about equal to the drop in the mercury up to yesterday—but if a sure-enough cold wave should come, the most economical way to keep the blood warm would be to open an account with the clothier rather than with the butcher.

Eggs and butter are high, and will continue so until after the Christmas cakes are all baked and eaten.

A NEW CORPORATION

Guilford Insurance and Realty Company Will Manage the Business of Several Well Known Agencies.

The Guilford Insurance and Realty Company has been organized to manage the business of O. W. Carr & Co., the insurance department of O. W. Carr & Co., and the local agency department of the Dixie Fire Insurance Company.

This does not mean that these companies are no longer in the insurance business, but means that their insurance business will be handled by this new company, which has an authorized capital of one hundred thousand dollars, with twenty one thousand dollars subscribed at the start, thus enabling the company to fit up a handsome suit of offices, to have plenty of efficient help so as to have all policies carefully and accurately checked and verified, besides having them backed by a company with sufficient strength to protect the interests of the policyholders. They will push the fire insurance, the accident and health ,life, bonds and real estate business, and will have a new department for negoitating loans on real estate.

About thirty fire insurance companies will be represented and special arrangements will be made to facilitate the payment of loss claims. The new company will be district managers for a well known accident and health company, with arrangements for issuing policies and paying claims in Greensboro.

The life insurance department will be in position to submit policy contracts, rates, etc., from practically all the leading life insurance companies.

Officers and directors have not yet been elected, but it is learned that the active management of the business will be in the hands of G. W. Patterson, O. L. Grubbs and Mrs. Lulu B. Carr, with J. W. Fry and H. R. Bush as officers. These are all practical and successful insurance and real estate people.

Only Seven Jail Cases At Present.

With Guilford criminal court less than two weeks off there are only seven prisoners in jail awaiting trial at that term, and unless the addition is more rapid than since the last court the total number of jail cases will not exceed 10. There are now thirteen prisoners in jail. 1 being a federal man, 2 being Rockingham prisoners and three waiting for their terms to begin in the State prison. All are negroes.

Only one case was disposed of at yesterday's session of Municipal court. S. P. Tucker, of High Point, and C. L. Whittington, of this city, were arraigned on the charge of engaging in an affray. Tucker plead guilty and was fined $5 and costs. The case as to Whittington was continued.
